

WRITING TASK 2

~~There is a statement~~ Many claim/argue that in the future, the consumption of printed newspapers or books will disappear entirely, being replaced by reading online for free. In my opinion, although the consumption of printed ~~products-editions~~ will decrease due to the development of new technologies, there will continue to be demands for printed products/physical copies.

On one hand, it is true that ~~more and more~~ increasing numbers of consumers ~~people~~ will choose to read online instead of buying real books or newspapers. This is because it can save time and money. With the rising living costs ~~nowadays in most urban areas~~ nowadays, ~~some-certain~~ low-income families cannot afford expensive printed products. By reading online, they can save ~~plenty of spending~~ money, turning it into a fund for fundamental living ~~consumption expenses~~, such as ~~meat and vegetables~~ food, rent, and other forms of entertainment. However, it is time saving that also really matters saving time is the by far greater justification for this argument. Instead of ~~spending time~~ selecting books in ~~the-a~~ bookstore, ~~people-readers~~ can efficiently search for them online, ~~which means a promotion in searching efficiency~~. By ~~In~~ this way, the saved time can be used to do other things, for instance, ~~do- taking part in~~ exercises and doing housework. For example, most students in China download their books for school online for websites such as Baidu.com, saving on expenses and also giving themselves more time for study. What's more, it is also a result of demands for employment. The online reading industry provides job seekers with millions of jobs, which also boost the development of the former.

On the other hand, ~~there is still necessary for~~ printed books and newspapers will still be necessary in the future for health reasons. ~~One important reason is that using~~

Comment [Dave1]: good topic

Comment [Dave2]: this is not a fixed expression in English

Comment [Dave3]: never use this

Comment [Dave4]: good grammar and vocabulary – very accurate!

Comment [Dave5]: due to new advances in technology

Comment [Dave6]: don't say the same thing twice in a sentence

Comment [Dave7]: In my opinion, though online materials will become more popular in the future, there will remain a place in society for printed editions of newspapers and books.

Comment [Dave8]: introduction very clear, very strong – definitely all band 7+ to start TA CC V G

Comment [Dave9]: consumers, audiences, readers, citizens, individuals, the general populace, the general public (better than people – better to be more specific)

Comment [Dave10]: On the one hand, it is justifiable to argue no one will read physical publications in the future because online media is more convenient – you've got your main idea at the end of the sentence

Comment [Dave11]: less affluent segments of the population

Comment [Dave12]: more concise

Comment [Dave13]: relative clauses – sometimes overly wordy and you could just use an adverb or adjective

Comment [Dave14]: better to develop the other idea fully – especially if you can use a really specific example – china – real website, real person, real country, real company

Comment [Dave15]: too many ideas – one or two ideas and develop them fully

Formatted: Comment Text

~~printed products make note taking convenient and comfortable, especially in the field of education. Besides, people today who spend all their time online are less active and that contributes to a variety of health conditions. it is of great significance for children to protect their eye sights.~~ For example, ~~we often see from~~ there is recent professional researches ~~that concluding that children who a child using use less fewer~~ electronic products tends to maintain better eye sights be in better physical shape and more active generally. ~~By~~ In contrast, a student ~~surfing the Internet days~~ spending most of the day online on their phone or computer is more sedentary and susceptible to various conditions ranging from diabetes and obesity to heart disease and poor eyesight. ~~after day may do a great harm to his eye health.~~ Therefore, the market of printed books and newspapers will not extinct completely.

On the other hand, individuals will continue to read physical materials as they encourage better health. Individuals who spend time online tend to be less active. – example/more active healthier – contrast online/obesity/heart disease – example Chinese laws about videogames – therefore....

In conclusion, although reading online will become a main trend in the future due to its benefits in terms of saving time and money saving and the promotion of employment, it there will still be a market for printed products considering the note-taking convenience and children healtharehealth benefits.
327

Task achievement: 7 – need to work on more specific examples
Cohesion/Coherence: 6 – mistakes with linking words, strange paragraphing
Vocabulary: 7 paraphrase more and use more academic collocations
Grammar: 6/7 – a little more accurate with grammar – a little more concise
Overall: 6.5

Comment [Dave16]: one sentence of development – weak development – could bring your TA score down to a 6

Comment [Dave17]: it's a myth that computers and phones are bad for your eyes – books are worse for your eyes

Comment [Dave18]: people today who spend all their time online are less active and that contributes to a variety of health conditions.

Comment [Dave19]: specific detail helps your task achievement and vocabulary and CC a lot

Comment [Dave20]: you want this paragraph to be a little longer because this is the idea that you agree with

Formatted: Font: Bold

Comment [Dave21]: this way of planning will help you to write more logically and specifically and clearly

Formatted: Font: (Default) +Body (等线), 10 pt

Comment [Dave22]: delete

Comment [Dave23]: ok conclusion

Comment [Dave24]: 40 minutes would be fine – no problems with timing